20 years of experience
Dramatic Presentations

Leagh has been researching her family history for over 20 years. She's taught the subject for Greenville Tech and the S.C. Jaycee's.

She has a deep love for history and the impact it has on our lives today. She is particularly drawn to her ancestral homeland of Scotland.

She would love to have you visit her online or invite her to speak or present a dramatic presentation to take a look thru the glasses of time for a deeper look at the people and life in earlier cultures and era's and how they continue to impact our lives today.

Leagh is available for dramatic presentations, as a keynote speaker, lecturer or in a teaching setting.

In addition to being a genealogist, she is also a vocalist, writer, Certified Activities Director, Certified Life Coach and Christian Speaker.

Historical Presentations

Life on the Wagon Train

Leagh has always been fascinated about the journey her ancestors, Michael and Margaret McKee, took when they journeyed from Abbeville, SC to Jefferson County, MO in 1818. After extensive research, she wrote the story of their journey. Now she's bringing Margaret's story to you in a firsthand account.

Violet Jessop

Journey with the one woman that was on the most famous ships of the early Twentieth Century. Violet Jessop was on board the Olympic when she collided with the New York. She was also on the fateful voyage of the Titanic and the Britannic when these sister ships sank. Leagh brings a firsthand account of her survival.

Elizabeth Patton Crockett

Leagh wants to introduce you to her 4th great-aunt, the second wife of David Crockett. Journey with her from her childhood in Swannanoa, NC, through to her first marriage, the loss of her husband, meeting David Crockett, their life together and widowhood.

From Outcast to Pilgrim

What was life like on the Mayflower? What were the obstacles they faced in the New World? Why did they leave everything behind to come here? Told from the viewpoint of Leagh's ancestor, Pricilla Mullins Alden.
