Dramatic Monologues

Leagh has been researching her family history for over 20 years. She's taught the subject for Greenville Tech and the S.C. Jaycee's and is the author of History Made Real: 500+ Interactive Ideas to Bring History to Life.

She has a deep love for history and the impact it has on our lives today. She is particularly drawn to her ancestral homeland of Scotland.

During her time as an Activity Director she often presented interactive historical programs to her residents.

She would love to have you visit with you virtually or in person to speak or present a dramatic monologue or interactive program as we look thru the glasses of time for a deeper view of the people and life in earlier cultures and era's and how they continue to impact our lives today.

Leagh is available for dramatic presentations, as a keynote speaker, lecturer or in a teaching setting.

Historical Presentations

Life on the Wagon Train

Leagh has always been fascinated about the journey her ancestors, Michael and Margaret McKee, took when they journeyed from Abbeville, SC to Jefferson County, MO in 1818. After extensive research, she wrote the story of their journey. Now she's bringing Margaret's story to you in a firsthand account.

Violet Jessop

Journey with the one woman that was on the most famous ships of the early Twentieth Century. Violet Jessop was on board the Olympic when she collided with the New York. She was also on the fateful voyage of the Titanic and the Britannic when these sister ships sank. Leagh brings a firsthand account of her survival.

Elizabeth Patton Crockett

Leagh wants to introduce you to her 4th great-aunt, the second wife of David Crockett. Journey with her from her childhood in Swannanoa, NC, through to her first marriage, the loss of her husband, meeting David Crockett, their life together and widowhood.

From Outcast to Pilgrim

What was life like on the Mayflower? What were the obstacles they faced in the New World? Why did they leave everything behind to come here? Told from the viewpoint of Leagh's ancestor, Pricilla Mullins Alden.

Jean Armour Burns

Walk in the steps of Robert Burns wife and the ups and downs of their relationship.

Biblical Presentations

Leah: The Unloved Wife

Leagh knows what it's like to be unloved and unwanted in a marriage. Through this character re-enactment you will discover how to lean on God for comfort and hope.

Michal: A Hardened Heart

Michal, the first wife of David, was filled with love for her husband. However, her circumstances hardened her heart and she cost her all she ever wanted and more.

Woman at the Well: Filling the Broken Spaces

She was an outcast and broken. Until she met Jesus and he healed those broken spaces.

Mary Magdalene: Liberated from her Past

Mary Magdalene lived on the outskirts of town filled with demons. Until Jesus healed her and she became one of his followers. Her faith took her all the way to the cross and resurrection.

Martha: Learned to Be Still

Martha is known as being the doer. She was the sister to Mary and Lazarus and a friend of Jesus. She had to learn what it meant to be still in the Lord's presence and wait on His timing.

More presentations will be rolled out from time to time.
